TURNING THE TABLES.

SUMMONING A PROCURESS AND THE PALL MALL GAZETTE.

Sir Henry Wolf's Proposal to the Sultan is the Deposing of Tewfik—No Such, River, and Ireland — Foreign News.

LONDON, Sept. 5.—The tables were turned on the Salvationists and the Pall Mall Gazette by the application of Barrister Pollock, who has called a meeting of the public for a summons of criminal justice against all persons concerned in the abduction of the girl Armstrong for purposes of inventing a case of juvenile prostitution to decieve the public and the Committee of the Board of Trade. The meeting will be at Bow Lane before Sir James Vaughan as a government prosecution. The principal charge is that Rebecca Jarrett conspired with Mr. George Lewis upon the publication of the Pall Mall Gazette, to commit an abduction upon the child Armstrong. Mr. George Lewis appeared for Miss Steel, showing how important the Pall Mall Gazette considered the case, and recited facts which, if true, showed a die-stamped attempt to manufacture evidence and asked also for a summons against Mr. Bramwell Booth, the Salvation Army leader. The trial was adjourned until Monday, and bail was refused for Mrs. Jarrett.

The case is that of the girl Eliza Jane, who, it is said, was the Pall Mall Gazette's "Lily," one of the girls victimized by London vices. The identity of the "Lily" given in the Pall Mall with that of Eliza Armstrong has been admitted by Sir James Vaughan, who said he had been told of an innocent child, who was taken to a house of ill fame, drugged and outraged. Mr. Stead, the editor of the Pall Mall Gazette, who signed his name to the original statement from that which appeared in his paper. He said that he and alone was responsible for taking the child Eliza Armstrong from her home, that he had sold her to a master for immoral purposes; that he had converted the girl to a house of bad character, but that she had only remained there half an hour, and had left it from all motives except that of profit. The story made by Mrs. Josephine Butler, for this lady has stated that she was responsible for the proceedings of her friend Mrs. Jarrett (who was described as an old woman at a pre-trial), who said she had been taken the child from her home. The second point is denied by Mrs. Armstrong, the mother, who has stoutly maintained all through that she did not sell the child, and that she really believed what was to be taken to a reformatory situation.

—Dissertations.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 5.—The sultan has ordered the draft of a decree to be drawn up for his inspection deposing Tewfik, the actual khedive of Egypt, and replacing him by his son, Tewfik, and the other two sons, who are so well known, as the result of an investigation of the English and French holders of Egyptian bonds and money lenders in 1879. Germany and Austria are both favorable to the restoration of Tewfik, and the only personally favorable man, the only surviving son of Mehmet Ali, Sir Harry Drummond Wolff is getting on famously with the sultan. He dines and bathes with the sultan. He is a man of great energy and is a favorite of the sultan. He is at the dinner-table, and Mudir Pacha, the chief interpreter, sits opposite, busily engaged in translating to his majesty all Sir Harry Wolff's diplomatic small talk and bon mots. The sultan was professedly in very good spirits and seems highly amused at Sir Harry Wolff, and asks him of all sorts of questions about European manners and customs. France is the only country at the instant of the sultan's arrival that Sir Harry Wolff, and has given the portentous official notification that she will not recognize any arrangement made by Sir Harry Wolff. Mr. Parnell, the British Ambassador, while the sultan has not yet come to draw up a decree restoring Imaum to be drawn up, is by no means certain that he will sign it.

Sir Harry Drummond Wolff expresses satisfaction with the sultan, his confidence in the sultan, and in the sultan's ability to rule England.

The sultan disapproves of the project of the sultan of the Soudan by Turkish troops, and also regards with disfavor the project of an Anglo-Turkish occupation of the whole of Egypt.

Mr. Parnell, an official in the treasury department at Rouen, having been detained in embarking the public funds, has committed suicide. He was lost to society by his heavy losses at gambling.

THE EVENING BULLETIN

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1885.

In retiring from the BULLETIN, which I do to-day, to enter upon other duties, I wish to thank sincerely the good friends who have given their aid and encouragement to the paper for so many years, and to express the hope that it may continue to merit and retain the confidence of its friends. I desire, also, to acknowledge gratefully the numerous courtesies shown me by my brethren of the city press and of the state at large, during the fifteen years I have been an humble member of the fraternity.

There was an increase of $134,418 on collections for tobacco, and an increase of $188,501 on fermented liquors.

SENATOR WILLIAM M. GWIN, of California, died at the Park Hotel, in New York, on Wednesday last. He held a noted position in the United States Senate during the administrations of General Taylor, Millard Fillmore and Franklin Pierce. During the war he was arrested by order of Secretary Seward, while crossing the latitude brought to the United States and incarcerated at Fort Lafayette. He was paroled to go to Washington City, but broke his parole and went South, finding his way to Mexico, where he was created Duke of Sonora by Maximilian.

An acre of land will produce a burden of food just in proportion to its fertility and the quality of the soil. Rainwater percolating through the soil, stagnates water in the soil will be only as plentiful to the growth of the finger grasses as to the cultivated grains; and a soil that is not adapted to the growth of all the cereal grains is not so to the cultivated grasses.—Prairie Farm.

Train Robbers.
KANSAS CITY, Sept. 5.—The robbery reached independence, when a division took place, ten of the robbers jumped off and searching the little city. No suspicious characters were found, and the party then rode quickly northward to the Rock Island. Four carloads north of the town. This is the home of Frank James. Approaching the house the leader of the posse knocked and Frank's wife answered. He asked for James, and the usual banter appeared in his night clothes. A conversation followed and the posse became convinced that he knew nothing of the robbery. A circuitous route was then taken, the robbers being ten men.

No trace of the robbers was made, but it is believed that they are hiding in the brush and that their arrest is only a matter of a few hours. The railroad company has offered $1,000 reward for each.

Cat Hair Throat.

BOSTON, Sept. 5.—Charles Hayes, a mulatto car washer, aged 40, returned to his home in Cambridge slightly intoxicated. His companion, Tilley Robinson, a pretty mulatto of twenty-one years, who had engaged him to wash his car, had received him with reproaches and charged him with deserting her. Hayes retaliated warmly and a row ensued. At last, Hayes threw him to the ground, from which he crawled away in tears. She died in a few minutes. The whole affair was witnessed by their landlady. After committing the bloody deed, Hayes was overcome with remorse and sought his master for his life, pleading for forgiveness. He then fled from the house and has not been captured.
